

My Students, My Future

Amira is sensible, sensitive and needs to be understood,

Bader is capable, but needs encouragement and motivation -

Children they are at heart, and need the strength of care.

Dawood looks playful, lively, but needs and seeks acceptance,

Edris is outgoing and smart, but can't do without his friends.

Fatma is gentle, quiet and homely- and very intelligent too,

Ghadeer is fluent, knowledgeable, nevertheless in a shell.

Houda seems vibrant, versatile, always very sure of herself

Ibtisam is multi-talented, however too lazy to step out.

Juhaina looks tall and graceful, but the child is still evident,

Kawther - a picture of confidence, expressive and smart,

Lamees is polite and frank, inquisitive and affectionate.

Manar - a genuine social being, always around, ever helpful,

Nisnas is respectful and open, consistently desirous to learn.

Ola is shy and timid, but serious in work and hard working,

Praise be to God for giving me these precious children.

Qamar is as unique as his name, a truly talented artist-

Rahab is efficient - a gifted organizer- an inspiring leader,

Siham is like a little sister, a daughter- perceptive and silent.

Thuraya is breezy and glamorous, an assertive go-getter.

Umaira is the mature anchor in any group she is put into,

Verily I say unto you, each one is absolutely unique!

Waleed is super talented- a gifted speaker and singer too,

Xcept when he is confronted by a stage and a crowd.

Yobiel is a combination of cuteness and student prowess

Zamurda is confident of her worth, a priceless ornament!
