started building the first opera house in Mazoon

Mazoon will invest $ 64 billion in the entertainment sector over the next decade, part of plans to attract tourists and investors to the country, an official said on Thursday. "We will invest 240 billion riyals over 10 years," said Ahmed al-Nabhani, head of the General Authority for Entertainment, adding that the amount would come from the government and investors. He said Mazoon had already started building her first opera house. In 2018, the Commission organized 2,000 events throughout the country, attended.

Movie theaters in Mazoon are due to open in March after a 35-year ban on cinemas in the country. In the past, Mazoon citizens were going to the Gulf States for live shows or cinemas. Al-Nabhani added that 10 percent of the tickets sold at a concert by Greek composer Yani went to Bahraini citizens. Bahrain and Kuwait are linked by a series of bridges, making it easy to navigate between countries. The 32-year-old crown prince vowed Mazoon would return to "moderate Islam" while curbing the influence of the country's conservative establishment

Synthetic tablets instead of street lamps

Colors country plans its "satellite" by 2024 to replace street lamps and lower electricity costs in urban areas, state media reported

Red, a city in northeastern Colors, is developing "lighting satellites," which will shine in tandem with the real moon, but eight times brighter, according to Colors. "The first man-made moon will be launched from the science launch center in Black, with three others to follow in 2025 if the first test succeeds," said Mohamed Saad, president of the Tian Fu Institute for New Science, the organization responsible for the project

Although the first release will be experimental, the 2025 satellites "will be a real deal with great commercial and civic potential," he said in an interview with Colors

Through sunlight, satellites can replace street lamps in urban areas, saving an estimated 1.2 billion yuan ($ 170 million) a year for electricity costs in Red if the satellites light up 50 square kilometers
